100 Percent Placards Adorn City

Red Cross Membership Campaign Gets Away To A Flying Start Here

Posters advertising 100-percent enrollments in the Red Cross multiplied rapidly among business houses here this week. The Fire department and Kiwanis club were heralded as first civic groups to enroll in toto, and individual memberships mounted in number as the Red Cross conducted its annual roll call November 11 to 25 drive for memberships.

Chief W. D. Richards and the other firemen had their enrollments subscribed well before the opening date of the drive, maintaining their previous record for being first each year to contribute 100 percent.

Honors for speedy response were shared with the Kiwanis, however, since the latter's total membership was contributed on the first day of the drive.

Up to date, with a week remaining for the drive, the roll call had enlisted about 280 memberships.

Capt. E. G. Everett, roll call chairman here, was out there pitching, too, and soliciting memberships all about town. Although an automobile collision put a slight crimp in activities as far as the car was concerned, Everett's energy and effort were abated not one whit.

Goal of the drive is to secure 700 memberships, although the quota allotted is 500. The chapter here seeks also 100 percent enrollment from every business firm and civic organization or club.

Although effort is being made to canvass the town completely, it is difficult to visit all those in the residential districts. Therefore, officials asked that contributors who may be missed in the personal solicitation make their subscription at the booth in front of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank or at Red Cross headquarters, 47 West Sierra Madre Blvd.

"While the solicitors out working now are doing a fine job," Captain Everett said, "there is always room for more help, and volunteers will be most heartily welcomed."

Registration Shows City's Growth

Figures furnished by the registrar of voters this week show that there has been an increase of 887 registered voters in Sierra Madre during the last few years, the greatest increase coming in the last three years.

Registration for the November 8 election brought the number of eligibles here up to 2,641 as compared with 1754 in November 1928. There has been an increase of more than 600 since 1933. At the recent election a total of 2,066 ballots were cast as compared with 1,477 at the November 1928 election.

Ten years ago only 345 local citizens were registered as Democrats while there were 1168 Republicans. This year 1,286 registered as Democrats and 1,147 as Republicans.

But in spite of this majority of Democratic registrations, all of the Republican candidates at the recent election carried the city by substantial majorities. Receiving a majority of the votes cast in every election district, Governor Merriam had 1100 and Governor-elect Olson, Democrat, 870 ballots.

Youth Unconscious At The Wheel, Hurt When Car Hits Tree

Thomas Wynne, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wynne, 273 Sturtevant drive, had a deep gash on his chin this week as the result of an accident last Saturday when he fainted at the wheel and crashed an automobile into a tree at the F. G. Floyd home, 258 East Alegria avenue.

The youth, recently recovered from an attack of flu, was driving his father's car and says he lost consciousness as he turned from Mt. Trail into Alegria.

Man To Leave City Rather Than Part With His Dogs

Rather than stay here without his two dogs, Loring Hutchinson, 237 North Mt. Trail will move to Big Bear Lake.

On complaint of neighbors that noise of his dogs constituted a public nuisance, Hutchinson appeared in municipal court here Wednesday morning. Judge T. W. Neale imposed sentence of $50 fine or 25 days in jail, suspended on condition that Hutchinson should not keep the dogs on the premises for one year.

Hutchinson reported that he will move to Big Bear by December 8.

City Honors John Muir Sunday

Woodland Nook To Be Dedicated To State's Greatest Naturalist

Marking the 100th anniversary of the birth of California's most famous naturalist, garden clubs throughout the State are active in doing honor to John Muir this year.

Fitting ceremonies are planned for Sunday afternoon at 4:30 at the Wistaria Vine Gardens when the dedication of the John Muir Woodland Nook will take place, sponsored by the Sierra Madre Garden Club and Mrs. W. J. Lawless, owner of the Gardens. Planting of a redwood tree and a Fremontia ,gifts of Theodore Payne, Glendale, and Charlotte M. Hoak of South Pasadena, will be the highlights of the program.

Mr. Payne will give a brief resume of the naturalist's life and accomplishments and Miss Hoak will dedicate the redwood tree to his memory. A precious book, "Our National Parks," the gift of Mrs. Wanda Muir Hanna, to Mrs. Lawless, will be exhibited. Mrs. Hanna has also been invited to be present at the ceremonies.

The Muir Woods near San Francisco, and many public buildings throughout the State are tributes to this man, known for his great devotion to native plants and shrubs.

The dedication is open to the public and tea will be served in the garden following the program. Miss Hoak will remain as guest speaker at the gardens for the regular Sunday supper program.

Float Given A Hand By Jr. Women

Appoint Committee To Assist In Getting Another Rose Tournament Prize

Indicating their interest in success of the float which Sierra Madre will enter in the Tournament of Roses, Junior Woman's club members this week delegated a committee to assist with the project, expressing the hope it will be able to help secure another first prize on New Year's.

At their meeting Thursday night, the club members planned a Valentine dance for early February, to be conducted by new members directed by Barbara Heasley.

Appointed to the club float committee were Mrs. William Schwartz, Mrs. Alta Butler and Mrs. Babby Scalzo.

Report of the district meeting of Los Angeles federated junior clubs in Los Angeles this week was given. Attending from this city were Jean Eastwood, Muriel Tarr, Alice LaLone, Frances LaLone, Grace Hazelton, Adele Doty, Mary Frances Brain and Mary Schwartz.

Next meeting of the club will be Dec. 1, when a Christmas party will be planned.

Mrs. Opal Gerlach Weds Hollywood Song Writer

Announcement was made this week of the recent marriage of Mrs. Opal Gerlach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Smith of this city, to Claude Bonzell, Hollywood song writer. Mr. and Mrs. Bonzell are at home to their friends at 741 North Benton Way, Los Angeles.

GARMENTS OF ANCIENT, MODERN CHINA MODELED HERE BY CAL-TECH STUDENTS FROM THE ORIENT

What the well dressed Chinese prince of 300 years ago wore and styles preferred by modern China were contrasted in a fashion show of Pasadena Chinese American society Friday at Wistaria Vine Gardens, at which new Chinese students at Cal-Tech were welcomed to the Southland.

Heavily embroidered with the imperial five-clawed dragon, the princely robes, dating from the days when China was ruled by Manchu overlords, presented a colorful spectacle, as modelled by Herbert House, Jr., Dr. D. Y. Chu, T. K. Wang, Howard Shiau and S. Y. Chen.

Delicately hand stitched and embroidered women's court dresses were modelled by Miss Doris Chow, Miss Nancy Li, Miss Gloria Woo, Miss Elizabeth Fitz, Miss Ruth Alice Irving, Miss Frances Twogood and Miss Eleanor Twogood.

S. C. Tao of Yen Ching University, Peking, and George A. Fitch, YMCA director at Nanking, spoke.

Experiment Proves Boon To Public

Parcel Post Shows Marvelous Growth As 25th Anniversary is Celebrated

Silver Jubilee, marking the 25th anniversary of the founding of the United States parcel post service and to be held all this month, brought interesting reminiscenses from Postmaster Ray O. Caukin yesterday.

The local postmaster remembers well the inauguration of the service in 1913 and has followed with much interest its progress since then.

Clippings from San Francisco newspapers collected by Caukin, residing there at the time, tell the story of the service, starting with a picture showing Postmaster General Hitchcock, who organized the system, mailing the first package.

Mailed in Washington just after midnight, January 1, 1913 the package was addressed to Postmaster Morgan at New York City, and contained a silver loving cup, afterwards placed in the National Museum at Washington.

On January 4, 1913, the San Francisco News stated editorially: "Parcel Post has made good. Great public reforms usually require time for usage to oil the wheels of their machinery. But Parcel Post made good the first day."

Pointing out that the new government experiment immediately proved itself faster and cheaper than the package delivery by private express companies, the editorial listed details of time and cost on various deliveries.

On January 5 of the same year the San Francisco Call reported the business of the new service within the week had doubled, quadrupled and then doubled again.

Cartoonists went to town with the new service as an inspiration, their imaginations allowing them to picture amusing problems of postmen trying to deliver all sorts of animals, food articles and even persons. One news item in fact, did record the Parcel Post delivery of a live baby, sent by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Beagle from Glen Este to his grandmother, Mrs. Louis Beagle, at Batavia ,Ohio, on January 25, 1913. Postage charge was 15 cents, and the "parcel" was insured for $50.

Observations

By Lee Shippey

Tonight (Friday) the first Grand Council Fire of the Camp Fire Girls will be held in Sierra Madre, in the school cafeteria. Heretofore huge district Council Fire gatherings have been held in the Civic Auditorium in Pasadena and many persons from Sierra Madre have attended them. Within the last year more than fifty Sierra Madre girls have joined the organization and it was believed the community would prefer to have the Council Fire held here so that all the relatives and friends of the girls could be present to see them receive their honors. This will make the program here much shorter than the Pasadena programs have been and everyone will be sure of a good seat. Last year the Council program in Pasadena was so long that the children got tired and the crowd was so large that many people who had come from distant towns were unable to see. In our cafeteria everyone will be able to see.

Five active groups of Camp Fire Girls are operating here, Mrs. Myrtle Wood Jensen being the guardian for one, Mrs. Donald P. Barnes being the guardian of two and Miss Ruth Miles and Miss Elizabeth Doty being the guardians of one each. For a community in which the Camp Fire movement is young, Sierra Madre has made remarkable progress and a surprising number of honors will be awarded at the Council Fire this evening.

Lamanda Park Kids Come Here Enroute To Wilson Jr. High

Children living in the Lamanda Park district north of Villa street will have a jaunt through this city very morning besides bus transportation to Woodrow Wilson junior high school in Pasadena, by recent order of the Pasadena board of education.

The board ordered the Sierra Madre school bus to pick up 15 children, all living more than a mile away from the school, at Villa street and the Pacific Electric tracks at 7 a.m. daily. Following its regular route the bus will then bring them through Sierra Madre en route to the school, from where it returns at 4 p.m.

Card Party Tonight To Boost Fund For The City's Float

Chinese checkers, bridge rummy, Mah Johngg—if anyone still remembers how—

For "anything goes" in the matter of card games to be played at the dessert bridge party which Mrs. W. J. Lawless will give tonight at the Wistaria Vine Gardens as a benefit for the Wistaria Town float fund, and those who attend may name their own diversion.

To aid in raising funds for the city's entry in the New Year's Tournament of Roses, Mrs. Lawless offered the Gardens' facilities for the affair and will also furnish refreshments.

Victories Here Are Decisive

Official Election Figures Give Big Majorities For Hinshaw And Knight

Complete official figures from the November 8 election in the 11th Congressional and the 48th Assembly districts gave Carl Hinshaw and T. Fenton Knight decisive victories over their Democratic opponents. Mr. Hinshaw goes to Washington with a majority of 8187 votes over Carl Stuart Hamblen. Mr. Knight goes to Sacramento with a majority of 3957 over Leslie H. Preston.

Hinshaw's vote in the 611 precincts of the Congressional district was 67,510. Hamblen received 59,323. Knight's vote in the Assembly district was 11,583, to 7,626 for Preston. Hinshaw carried Sierra Madre by a majority of 188 votes. Knight's majority here was 148. Knight received 95 per cent of all the votes cast in LaCanada, where he has resided for many years on his citrus ranch. Hinshaw had a smashing majority in the Pasadena area, the large Democratic vote being cast in the outer end of the San Fernando and in the Antelope valleys.

Miss Eleanor Miller, Pasadena Republican Assemblywoman, goes back to Sacramento for the ninth time with a majority over Mrs. Paulson, her Democratic opponent, of 6976 votes. The district lies wholly within the city of Pasadena.

William A. Smith, new supervisor of the first district, had a majority of 17,590 over former Supervisor Hugh A. Thatcher, receiving 99,429 votes to 81,590 for Thatcher.

San Marino polled almost 100 per cent of its registered vote and gave the largest proportionate Republican majorities of any community of the State or Nation. Former Assemblyman Fred Houser was given a majority of 14 to 1 over Pellett, his Democratic opponent. Eugene Nixon though defeated for Congress as the Republican candidate, carried San Marino by 4 to 1 over Jerry Voorhis, incumbent.

Contrary to nearly all predictions, Monrovia gave all the Republican candidates good majorities. Glendora and Claremont also gave large majorities for the entire Republican ticket. The Democratic candidates swept Azusa, which was one of the very few smaller cities to give a majority for the "Ham and Eggs" proposition.

Local Club Carries Off Prizes At Model Plane Meet

"Chuck" Shippey and Bob Thomas came home from the model airplane meet at Taft on Armistice Day happy over the showing of the Santa Anita Gas Model Club to which they belong and which carried off six of the 25 prizes.

Both Sierra Madre boys were among the six of the club's nine members who were prize winners, giving the local club best average for the meet.

Contestants came from a wide area, San Diego to Fresno, to enter their gasoline powered models in the competition. Ed Roberts, Santa Anita club president, who lives in West Arcadia, won the first prize, $25, and the championship trophy. Ed Frasier, who lives in the Oaks, was another prize winner.

Santa Claus Opens His Toy Shop

Firemen Again Volunteer As Assistants And Ask For Toys To Rebuild

First forerunner of the Christmas season, Santa Claus Toy Shop, through which the Sierra Madre fire department annually distributes several overflowing truckloads of toys to children here, was opened this week.

In the absence of any vacant downtown storeroom such as heretofore provided space for the toymaking and repairing activities of the firemen, the workshop was established at the city pumping plant, 621 East Sierra Madre boulevard. Toys will be received at the fire station in the city hall, or at the pumping plant.

Vernon Udell, fire department mechanic, agreed as in previous yaers, to take charge of operations involved in putting the toys into final shape. This week Udell, with a variety of lathes and other tools and equipment, moved in and went to work. He will be assisted with the mechanical operations by a dozen of the firemen, and others in the department will do the necessary painting and finishing.

J. E. Veino, 741 Brookside Lane, anticipated Christmas and the Toy Shop some time ago, when he started fashioning toy dressers, and these he presented to the shop. This week they were already acquiring gay coats of paint at the hands of the volunteer Santa Claus aides.

Saturday night, December 17, the firemen will hold their annual dance and card party at the Woman's clubhouse, proceeds to be devoted to financing the Christmas Eve party for children at the city park and the Christmas baskets distributed each year by the fire department to families who will welcome them most.

The firemen plan to illuminate the big Deodar tree at the city park as usual for the arrival of Santa Claus Christmas Eve, when some 500 children will be their guests and receive stockings bulging with Christmas goodies. The ceremony would be incomplete without its customary musical acompaniment, and so there will be Christmas Carols, too.

Pegler Wins Director's Position

City Treasurer Elected To Board Of California Fruit Growers Exchange

Carl Pegler, city treasurer, added another directorship to his list this week when he was elected to the board of California Fruit Growers Exchange at a meeting in the Sunkist building in Los Angeles.

Mr. Pegler was elected to the new post from the Semi-Tropic fruit exchange, of which he is also a director. For the past 37 years he has been a director of the Sierra Madre—Lamanda Park citrus association, so this directing business is not exactly a novelty to him.

At the meeting in which Mr. Pegler was elected to the Sunkist directory, Paul S. Armstrong, manager of the Exchange, just returned from a sales meeting in New York and a citrus conference in Washington, told his colleagues in exchange management that "the level of purchasing power thruout the United States and Canada promises to be about 10 per cent better next year than it has been during 1938."

"California citrus is still outstanding in its stability, volume of business and even price levels compared to American agriculture generally, even though we are completing our poorest recent year and facing another big crop for 1938," Armstrong said, explaining that if nothing happens to restrict the harvest in California, Texas or Florida, the industry is facing another difficult marketing job next year.

TOBACCO DECLARED GREATEST ENEMY OF WHITE RACE BY SURGEON-AUTHOR HERE

"Seventeen villains that lurk in tobacco" were exposed to the Kiwanis Club at its Tuesday luncheon meeting by Dr. George Thomason, surgeon of Los Angeles county general hospital in a dramatic story.

The surgeon, author of a recently published booklet on the subject "Science Speaks," declared that there are many poisons in tobacco, which he termed the "greatest nemesis of the white race." While scientific research has decreased death resulting from other diseases, he said, the use of tobacco in its various forms continues to increase the number of deaths from diseases resulting from the tobacco habit. He listed these as stomach ulcer, cancer and heart disease.

Dr. Thomason cited statistics in his effort to show that ten percent of the children born to smoking parents eventually become drunkards, criminals or insane.

C. W. Jones, former mayor, addressed Kiwanians, urging them to support the annual Red Cross roll call, November 11 to 25, and listing the work done by the organization.

ONLY IN AMERICA

Senator Culbert L. Olson is Governor-elect of California. His duties and responsibilities as a citizen underwent a change at the recent election possible only in American democracy. Prior to election day, Mr. Olson was responsible only to the members of the Democratic Party, which selected him as its candidate. But now Mr. Olson is the next Governor of all Californians—responsible to all of them, Republicans as well as Democrats, conservatives as well as liberals.

As Governor of California, Mr. Olson will administer his office as he considers best for the welfare of the State. And it is the duty of all Californians to forget political differences and unite sincerely to help Governor Olson make a success of that administration—just as much as it is the duty of citizen Olson to forget political differences and carry out the duties of his office impartially and with respect to the rights of every resident of the State.

In Germany, it is "Heil, Hitler! Heil Hitler—right or wrong!"

In California, it is simply "Hail, Governor Olson!" Californians reserve the democratic right to criticize the new Governor, when and if they feel he's wrong. But good Californians also recognize the right of Mr. Olson—as Governor and no longer as Candidate—to the sincere cooperation of all citizens in the common task of making our great State a better place in which to do business, to work, and to live.

Hail, Governor Olson!

Case and Comment

By Charles B. Showalter

JUST a few days ago we celebrated Armistice Day—the twentieth anniversary of the end of the Great War. France and Flanders Fields seem far removed from us now, but twenty years ago they were very near and very real to many millions of Americans. And in this year 1938, twenty years later, some of us,—many of us,—can still hear the rythmic tread of marching hosts, the rumble and roar of guns, the shriek of the wounded, the groan of the dying. 'Mid scenes of utter tumult and confusion, in seas of mud and blood, young men strove mightily to "end war" and "make the world safe for democracy."

Millions of men were sacrificed on the battlefield, more millions were maimed for life, while the economic loss defies calculation.

It seems a good idea now to review these past twenty years and consider whether or not our sacrifices were made in vain; to see if history has not nullified our high and holy purpose to conduct a "war to end war."

Among some of the unexpected developments of the past twenty years are these: The sudden rise of Far Eastern powers to importance and commanding influence; the creation of new states; the rise of unknown men to national leadership; gigantic plans for new wars; the conflict between different philosophies of government.

But to our mind there is something far more startling and unexpected than all these—something much more significant, and that is the decline of freedom over the world. It may safely be said that nothing has occurred in our generation more unexpected, more unprecedented, more ominous than this.

Here we have a situation with untold possibilities for reshaping government and society and for affecting the consciences of men. Most of us are doubtless aware of this decline of freedom throughout the world, but give scant attention to its effect on citizens and governments, and members of churches.

It becomes more real to us, and vital, however, if we stop to inquire, "What if it should happen here?" And we should not lightly dismiss the quotation as something fantastic or quite improbable. The question presses for most serious examination. What can happen one place in the world can happen any other place, and we have with us now certain trends toward totalitarianism and the obliteration of personal freedom.

So far as concerns any measure of freedom, Europe and Asia are in darkness. The lights of two thousand years have gone out, and the darkness is loud with rumbling guns, the booming prayers of the guns to the prince of darkness. Here in the West is the twilight of freedom. The lingering light after sunset—an illusion of freedom yet for a while. Then for us, too, the long night. And all who think must ask why.

What has happened to the dreams of our fathers? Who has undone the work of their hands? Given the lie to their great, brave words? That the dead appear now to have died in vain; that governments of the people, for the people, and by the people are now perishing from the earth.

Who is to blame for all this? No one man can be held responsible. We are all guilty because of our changed philosophy. No free government can survive when all the people lean on it for support, or accept it as their master. We are destroying freedom in our own land by making the government a wet nurse for each and every citizen. And on the darkening stage of the world the villains are also victims, strutting their bit as the lights go out. The lights of two thousand years!

This is not a wail of final despair. The lights will come on again. Our lesson has been written in blood. But the lights will come on again when humanity has learned that the ways of hate all lead to death; that those who live by the sword must perish by the sword; that there is no peace but Christ's.

But must all the lights go out? Is the darkness over Europe and Asia spreading to these shores? Here in America are we not in reality as in appearance, a free democracy, the people ruling and moving by common consent ttward lasting peace? No. For the United States cannot remain an aloof and separate entity, but must continue to be a part and a phase of its century and civilization. This nation is in a separate boat and with a different flag from the others, but is drifting down the same river of time, put out from the same shores, blown by the same winds, borne on by the same flood to the sea of a common destiny. The doctrine of our isolation was only a hope, fading now in the light of reality, tossed overboard to sink along with freedom.

We are impressed with the prophetic words of Isaiah that "darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people." There is darkness over Europe and Asia, the lights are wavering here. The collapse of freedom in the world is breath-taking in its unexpectedness. What else may happen in the near future? Who can tell? Certain it is, that there are troubulous times ahead. But the lights will come on again. They must. Otherwise the Utopian dream of the oppressors—a Godless world—will have been realized.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

WE will soon be ringing door bells and climbing the sides of hills to homes, to sell tickets for our annual dance and card party. The "Toy Shop" is already in operation, Vern Udell having again volunteered to take charge and install his equipment. This equipment consists of everything from a tack hammer to a lathe. Bring in your old toys and put away the price of at least one of the tickets to the firemen's party.

During our drill Friday, word was spread around that Art' Udell was at home celebrating his birthday. When Art' was kidded about his age, someone called to the attention of the young people, the many gray heads of the present firemen. The old boys ain't what they used to be.

The fellows who so loudly battled adoption of the heavy blue shirts as a part of our uniforms had a good opportunity to laugh last week. It was plenty cold on drill night and some of the advocates of a lighter shirt were on the front of the truck where the wind blew. On such a night and under such circumstances several blue shirts would not come amiss.

Flood Control Work Planned In Two Canyons Here

Santa Anita and Sierra Madre washes are included among several in San Gabriel valley for which alignment sketches were being prepared this week in the office of Major Theodore Wyman, Jr., United States district engineer at Los Angeles, preparatory to further flood control work.

Arcadia, Little Dalton and Eaton washes and Gould channel are also slated for work under the program. At little Dalton, preliminary alignment has been completed from the canyon mouth to its junction with San Gabriel river.

AUTHORITY ON ROSES TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Charles Gibbs Adams will speak on "Early California Roses" Monday night, 7:30 p. m., at Pasadena public library, 285 East Walnut street, Pasadena, under auspices of the Pacific Rose society. Fred W. Walters, society president, this week issued public invitation to the meeting, announcing there will be no charge for admission.

Woman Has Dropped the Fundamentalism of Her Attitude Toward Men

NOW that we have conquered the various elements—air, water, time and space—we are inclined to be a little cocky and utter in capital letters about progress, culture and civilization. We dash up to the summit of our dunghill and crow loudly of airplanes, radio and wireless. We pat each other on the back because the last word in education, psychology and science is now within reach of the multitude.

The last word? The first word is all we have discovered. Science makes a new beginning every day. Psychology is still a series of stuttering definitions. Education is so young that it has not yet got its wisdom teeth. And with them all the silent, scarcely perceived shifting of the groundwork of human relationships goes on with the irresistible slow creep of an avalanche.

Moslem women are unveiling—waking up after a thousand and one nights. Western women have dropped the Victorian antimacassar and with it the fundamentalism of their attitude toward men. They are stretching their economic muscles, exchanging the rolling pin for the walking stick, the drawing-room sofa for the Supreme court bench. To paraphrase Anatole France, it is the Revolt of the Angels.

A hundred years ago marriage was the be-all and end-all of a woman's life. She was bred for it, trained for it, sold off by her fond mamma to the highest bidder, a chattel, a child-machine, who became in her turn auctioneer.

To her then divorce was ruin. It placed her beyond the pale. She was damned socially and, of course, morally. She was declasse, an outcast.

Today with a pious "My God" we look in the newspaper at the photograph of the woman who is enjoying her sixth husband. She is the captain of her soul, whether we believe it will be damned or not!

Today we are facing the fact that a woman is no longer afraid to leave a husband. She is no longer dependent on his support. She has made the great discovery that she can support herself. She has taken the economic weapon with which she has been clubbed so long and has chucked it back at him like a boomerang. The shackles of fear are no longer round her ankles. She has stepped forth, free!

And tomorrow, a hundred years hence? The present emotional antagonism will have disappeared. The awkward gestures of newly found liberty, of trying the sprouting wings, will have acquired rhythm and grace.

Today she has developed from a chattel into an antagonist. Tomorrow she will be a partner, an equal sharer of burdens and rewards, spiritual as well as physical.

Of course, the dishwasher will survive as a type just so long as there remains a man in whom that age-old tradition has not been stamped out. But this is an age when our ears are already familiar with the splashing sound of traditions being dropped overboard. The new generation has a lofty contempt for the old. It refuses anything that is accepted.

And just to look back with a tolerant smile at those dark ages, so short a while ago, when the law ordained that a man might not kiss his wife on Sunday, so will they look back at where we are today in our so-called enlightenment, which to them will seem Stygian darkness.

The present hypocrisy of marriage will be intolerable. There will be no law or public opinion to force a woman to go on living with a husband when detestation is mutual. Instead of being a matter of perjury and smart lawyers, divorce will be as readily accessible as a 2-cent stamp.

If a wife has no money of her own, she will no longer be in the position of accepting tips, as she is today, however graciously they may be offered. That sanctified lie, "with all my worldly goods I thee endow," will have been transformed into truth.

In other words, man and woman, in their marriage relationship, will look at each other with different eyes, as partners and equals, morally, physically and economically. Passion, of course, will always be present; but they will have won their way to a far saner solution of its consequences than is dreamed of in our present philosophy.

The pronouncement has been made that we are headed for the matriarchal system. It may be so, but if civilization is to endure, then man and woman have got to stand shoulder to shoulder, thinking alike, working together, equals, equals.

Spotting reckless drivers by airplane is a new method being tried in New Jersey. Added to the state police department is an airplane which cruises over the roads on the lookout for reckless drivers. When one is seen, the pilot radios police headquarters, which in turn notifies the radio car police to catch the law-breaker.

The Governor of Bermuda, where automobiles are outlawed, has threatened to resign and return to England unless he is allowed to drive a car.

Southward bound this week are America's delegates to the coming Pan-American conference, scheduled to set up shop December 9 in Lima, Peru. For President Roosevelt and his advisors, the coming conference will be a test drilling into the unplumbed depths of Latin-American opinion. What effect has the "good neighbor" policy had on the traditional Spanish-American fear of the colossus of the north? How does the Estados Unidos del Norte now rate in the mind of the man in the street, South American model? Has German and Italian propaganda seriously cracked the united facade of Pan-Americanism? America's southbound diplomats are asking those questions. Northbound, not so many weeks from now, they should know the answers.

Visitors to the Death Valley National Monument increased approximately 550 per cent in half a decade and numbered 58-320 last year, an increase of 19.3 per cent over the previous travel year, the logical result of a carefully planned system of surfaced highways, camping and hotel facilities.

Times have changed since Prof. Robert Rogers of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, made his now classic statement to "be a snob and marry the boss' daughter." Marry the boss' secretary and not his daughter, is the latest advice of the college professors. Prof. R. Gal Noyes,of the department of English at Brown University, gave that advice to one of his classes the other day. He explained: "The Government is getting all the boss' money, so he'll never give it to his daughter. The secretary, however, has a job."

A minister in a mid-western city closed his church for an indefinite period just before the election. He said the congrgation argued so loudly about politics that no one could hear his sermon.

During the first three-quarters of this year, safe driving and careful walking have reduced last year's traffic deaths by 20 per cent. If drivers continue to keep the fifth man alive during the balance of the year, the total

Since Maryland adopted its new marriage license law at the recent election, three leading ministrs at Elkton, the state's Gretna Green, have each deputized two assistants to help take care of the couples standing in line at their doors awaiting the marriage ceremony. As many as 200 couples a day are being married at the parsonage of Rev. Mr. Cope. Maryland has always had a "wedding-while-you-wait" law. Effective December 8 there must be a lapse of 48 hours between the granting of a license and the wedding ceremony. Hence the influx of couples from half a dozen states.

PROFIT SHARING SYSTEM HELD ONE-SIDED IN OPERATION

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agri-Council of California

PROFIT — and loss!

That phrase constitutes an old, old story. Nearly everything today is figured on a basis of profit—or loss. And the "loss" item plays an important part in the story of modern-day agriculture.

The farmer who can't take his losses, along with his gains, even when the losses go on for years without end, eventually ends up without his farm.

Hence, the new campaign of labor for a profit-sharing system, which will enable workers to earn more when the business earns more, is of vital interest, not only to agriculture but to all employers, big or small.

Most farmers, looking over their books for the past ten years, would go for a profit-sharing system—enthusiastically and unreservedly—if it also provided for loss-sharing on an equivalent basis.

For during the last decade, tens of thousands of farmers in California have paid their hired hands more in wages than they took out in profit at the end of the year. Tens of thousands of farmers, with their capital at stake and all the responsibility of their enterprise, have earned less—net—than the lowliest worker on their farms. In fact, in many cases, the farmer paid off his crew, in full, and pocketed his loss—figuring, as farmers do, that "It's the breaks of the game; next year it may be better."

Farm labor, more than most labor, has a keen understanding of the other fellow's problems. For farm labor, in most instances, knows whether the boss is operating at a profit or a loss. There's no need to look at a ledger. The facts are all around him.

But one of the first showdowns on the profit-sharing idea in private industry is more than discouraging.

In the first six months of this year, the net operating income of all Class One railroads in the United States fell $600,000,000 short of meeting the irreducible minimum of fixed charges. Inasmuch as railroads transport the bulk of farm produce to market, they are of vital interest to farmers. And inasmuch as most railroad workers earn far more than most farmers, their attitude—when their bosses are in trouble—is of primary concern.

But the story of railway labor, thus far, at least, is far from encouraging.

Facing bankruptcy, with no means of cutting overhead except by a wage cut, the railroads asked the railroad brotherhoods—the workers—to share in the losses.

And the answer is a threat to strike, coupled with flamboyant saving will be about 8,000 lives. charges that the railroads are in cahoots with Wall Street to usher in a new depression and that the proposed wage cut is part and parcel of said plot.

This writer holds no brief for the railroads—for many times California's farming industry has fought the railroads to secure lower freight rates—but the fact remains that railroad labor in the United States has been better paid than in any other country in the world. The fact remains that it has shared in the profits, during good times, more than labor in any other industry. Yet when it comes time to share in the losses to avert common disaster, the leaders of the brotherhoods blind themselves to the facts of the case and indulge in silly statements that their employers want to be broke—and want all other industries to be broke.

The fundamental fact is that all labor must come to understand with regard to profit-sharing is simply this: When the worker shares in the profits, he becomes a partner in the business. And partners ante up for losses, in addition to collecting profits. That's axiomatic.

One good thing, however, may come of the profit-sharing discussion. Labor may learn a new appreciation of the problems of management. And if it learns that lesson, much will have been accomplished toward securing better understanding between worker and employer.

ENGINEER TELLS HOW TO "GET AWAY FROM IT ALL"---ON A BURRO --- IN HONDURAS

If you want to get away from it all . . .

If you would like to be a five-day journey by burro—and burros the only possible transportation—from the nearest city:

Then the mining camp near Tegucigalphia, Honduras, where William H. Johnson has been spending the past year, is just the place you want.

Johnson, arriving here two weeks ago to spend a vacatino with Captain and Mrs. E. G. Everett, described the isolated mining camp in the Central America country as very lonely but most picturesque.

Originally from New Mexico, Johnson had spent much time in Mexico before going to Honduras as an employe of New York Honduras Rosario mining company and so his surroundings down there no longer strike him as unusual.

On the contrary, he finds it is a bit difficult to become accustomed to life here again, and when interviewed was more apt to comment on things he finds strange in this country after his long absence than on the wonders of Central America.

"Street cars, for instance," he remarked indicating the local trolley as it sped through town, "—everything here seems strange to me now, whereas the burros we use there for transportation have become just a part of everyday routine."

Banana production and shipping, and the mining of silver are the only industries of Honduras, the mining man said. He went on to describe the country as being unusually "backward" in many respects as compared to other countries, but away out in front with respect to scenery. The mining camp in which he lives is considered one of the most beautiful scenic spots in the world, Johnson said.

Population of the American colony is about 50, he said, and diversions are few. Though few of the natives know what a bed is—they sleep on the ground, and live almost exclusively on beans, bananas and tortillas, they are quite content because they know of nothing else, and their imagination could not follow a description of street cars and American conveniences.

What A Girl Sees Ramblin' 'Round

Is there a cozier place when it's cold and windy outside than the fireplace in the corner of artist Alfred Dewey's adobe studio? Our nomination for the cheeriest grin in town: The one so often on the face of Officer Albert Bray . . . On a Pasadena street car . . . an elderly fellow with white hair and white mustache . . . neatly turned out and of otherwise dignified appearance . . . but in his cups . . . querying "Why can't everybody be happy?" . . . It's just one of those things that has never been answered, Sir . . . No small town scene is complete without an occasional street fight. A bit of excitement the other day when some youths exchanged fisticuffs right down in the heart of the business district . . . Always something happening to prove an Arcadia paper was wrong when it recently described our city as "sleepy."

An interesting and genial gentleman, William Lauren Rhoades, spends much of his time poking and prying about into the early history of Sierra Madre . . . has been doing this for years because he loves the locality and wants to see its saga preserved. Is recognized as an authority on early events and is frequently consulted for such information . . his father, we hear, came here in 1874, owned 500 acres of land . . . Pasadena Glen down to La manda Park, and established the first hotel here, Sierra Madre Villa, torn down ten years ago after a long and interesting existence.

What is the nuttiest Hallowe'en prank you heard of in Sierra Madre? Goofiest thing that has come to our ears concerns a very well-known citizen, all stewed up, who wandered into the police station late in the evening and purloined an officer's midnight lunch . . . Took home a badly bruised spot when the oficer located him in a vacant lot . . . Culprit nearly choked to death trying to get rid of the last bites as he saw copper approaching . . Wonder what some of the doting mothers would say if they knew the frightfully obscene messages their innocent darlings soaped on store windows on Hallowe'en . . and whether a lot of parents know that their sons have .38 calibre guns . . . They used them freely, with blank cartridge so that Hallowe'en was a combination of a Fourth of July, New Year's eve and Hallowe'en celebration . . With the result that police, who allowed more than ordinary leeway this year, have resolved to tighten up a lot on the regulations hereafter.

Friends of ours learned this week that it is really well to "look before you leap." Traveling through Merced county on their return from Yosemite this Fall had to stop the car to avoid running over a flock of pheasant in the middle of a little traveled road. Then and there they decided to go pheasant hunting in that area when the pheasant season opened November 15. . . . Early in the week head of the expedition outfitted himself with hunting togs, borrowed a swell gun and was on his way . . . Last thing he did after the old car was all loaded up was to get his hunter's license, whereupon he learned that the area it was intended to invade is closed against pheasant hunting, along with most of the country in the San Joaquin valley west of the San Joaquin river . . . We saw him on the street last night and the season closes Sunday, so the birds are evidently safe.

Pauline Turner Now Mrs. M. R. Collier

Miss Pauline Turner, suburban editor of the Pasadena Post and well known in this community, was married last Thursday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Turner in Altadena, to Monte Robert Collier, also of Altadena. Miss Turner, who has been affiliated with the Star-News and Post for the past nine years and has held the position of suburban editor for the past three years, covers the nearby cities for her newspaper.

Mr. Collier is an alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania and is now associated with National School Assemblies Inc. He is a dog fancier and author of a book on dog training. It is understood Miss Turner will continue her newspaper work.

"Parade Of Years" And Grid Battle Will Lure 50,000 To Bowl

Because of the anticipated crowd of fifty thousand people at the "Homecoming Parade of Years" and PJC-Glendale JC football in the Rose Bowl tonight, November 18, at 7 o'clock, a new method of handling the tickets at the gate has been adopted.

All Pasadena student body books, ticket number 19, good for admission will be accepted only at gate C on the east side of the bowl and must be in the hands of the owner of the book. Regular admission ticket (fifty cent) will be accepted at gates A, B, D and H. All junior and high school students from surrounding territory must present their student body card to purchase their ticket and must again present their card as they go through the gates. These tickets are not good at the Junior College gates C and G. Gates open at 5 o'clock and all are urged to arrive as early as possible.

The "Parade of Years," honoring the fiftieth anniversary Golden Jubilee of the Chamber of Commerce, starts at 7 o'clock sharp just outside the Rose Bowl going in and around the track in the Bowl; and at 8 o'clock the fifty floats and twelve bands will have passed in review at the rate of one a minute, thus starting the football game at 8:15 sharp.

STORY OF HAWAII AT THE PLAYHOUSE

From out across the broad Pacific, teeming with drama in the colorful setting of a Hawaiian sugan cane plantation, comes "Paradise Plantation" to the Pasadena Community Playhouse stage for a run of two weeks, November 22-December 6. Shirland Quin went beyond tourist shores to tell the story of a real Hawaii, an island paradise in native lore and spark-laden drama.

"And Stars Remain," current Pasadena playbill, completes its run tomorrow.

Bovard was honored at a supper party given by Mr. and Mrs. George Morgridge at their home Saturday evening preceding her departure for the east where she will visit her daughter Miss Alice May Bovard in New York City, and relatives and friends in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Illinois as well as her son Burton Bovard in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Bovard plans to be away six or eight weeks. Those who were present for dinner were Mrs. Gilbert Bovard, Miss Alice Tufts, Miss Stella Dennison, Mrs. Hortense Hill the hosts and honoree.

FEBRUARY BRIDE-TO-BE HONORED AT SHOWER

Miss Margaret Pinkerton of 262 Santa Anita Court whose marriage to Forest Guard Keith Kaylor will be an event of February, was complimented by a linen shower last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Veola Pinkerton in Pasadena, with Mrs. John Kaye acting as co-hostess. Many beautiful gifts were presented to the bride-elect in a yellow boat with red heart sails and a cupid sailor, while others were hidden and their location revealed by alarm clocks.

GIVES INFORMAL PARTY BEFORE DINNER DANCE

Miss Adele Doty was hostess at an informal get-together party at her home, 673 Mariposa avenue, preceding the dinner dance at the Wistaria Vine Gardens Saturday evening. Guests who were present included Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cant, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McElwaine, Mr. and Mrs. George Larson, Mrs. Juanita Lannan, Miss Evelyn Solury, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Smith, Sam Graham, John Senour, and Walter Marti.

TWO BIRTHDAY PARTIES FOR A. M. UDELL

A. M. Udell was honored by two celebrations of his birthday anniversary last week when he and Mrs. Udell were guests of their daughter Mrs. I. C. Burnford of Culver City on Armistice Day, and guests at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Udell Sunday.

CELEBRATE TWO BIRTHDAYS AT DINNER PARTY

The birthday anniversary of David Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vard Wallace of 181 W. Grand View avenue and of Howard Bacon of San Babriel, was celebrated with a dinner party at the Wallace home Sunday. Members of the Wallace family were present as well as Mrs. Howard Bacon.

PATRIOTIC ATMOSPHERE AT ARMISTICE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Twedell and Miss Vivone Georgen of 445 E. Grand View Avenue entertained a group of twenty friends at an Armistice eve party last Thursday evening. Crepe paper in the national colors was used in the decorative scheme as well as bowls of white chrysanthemums. The evening was spent in various games followed by refreshments.

TWO ARE HONORED AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Dr. James P. Donelan of 334 N. Lima street and Mrs. Nona Kelch were jointly complimented by a dinner party honoring their birthday anniversaries which was given by Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Lee at their home in Altadena last Saturday evening. Among sixteen guests who were present for the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Paschall, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Scoins and Dr. and Mrs. James P. Donelan.

BORRADAILES GIVE A GAY SPANISH PARTY

The home of Mrs. J. Borradaile at 391 E. Grand View avenue was the setting for a gay Spanish supper party which was attended by twenty out-of-town guests Friday evening. Mrs. Grace Borradaile Davis, daughter of Mrs. Borradaile who was hostess for the evening, used a profusion of bronze tone chrysanthemums for decorations and planned many interesting games which were enjoyed by the guests following dinner.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Woman's Guild of the Church of the Ascension will hold a pot luck luncheon and all day meeting at the parish house today when plans will be made for the Christmas Bazaar which will be held early in December.

Mrs. John Hoevel of East Laurel avenue was hostess to seven members of the Get Together Club last Wednesday afternoon when the ladies enjoyed sewing, conversation and refreshments. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. A. Kinney of 171 S. Baldwin avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Coumbe of 521 Alta Vista Drive entertained a group of friends at dinner at the Los Serranos Country Club Saturday evening. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Gardiner of "Topside," Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allen and Mr. and Mrs. David Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Murto McIvor of Hollywood were Tuesday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ward of 109 E. Grand View avenue.

Mrs. Eva Moore of 71 Victoria Lane was Armistice Day dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gabriel at their home in Pasadena.

NEW INN IS SERVING FINE OLD DISHES

Pasadena had another new eating place this week, when Mona's Colonial Inn opened at 405 East Union street. The building is new and the restaurant is new, but the Inn makes a specialty of old-time Southern cooking. All the well-known dishes made famous by Southern cooks are served by waitresses quaintly dressed in dainty Colonial garb.

CHRISTMAS PARTY AT THE BRITISH HOME

On Saturday, December 3rd, from 2 until 5:30 in the afternoon a "Thank You" Christmas party and sale will be held at the British Home under the auspices of the Daughters of the British Empire. Proceeds from all articles on sale which have been made by guests at the home will go to those who have made them. All guests attending are requested to bring some small gift of canned food or other items for the pantry. Tea will be served with the British Consul, Francis Evans accompanied by Mrs. Evans and the noted British actor C. Aubrey Smith as guests of honor.

GRIPPING STORY AT ARCADIA THEATRE

Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney in "Boy's Town," coming to the Arcadia theatre Sunday for a three day showing, form a team providing movie fans all they could wish for in the way of dramatic interpretation of the gripping story. Setting of the story is a home for boys, resembling the famous Father Flanagan's home in Omaha.

Tonight and Saturday the Arcadia will show two features, "Shopworn Angel" and "Three Loves Has Nancy."

BILLHEIMER RELATIVE DIES FROM INJURIES

Funeral services were held last Thursday at Ripon, Calif., for Sidney Wakefield Davis, 28 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Richard Davis of that city and nephew of Mrs. J. S. Billheimer who died last week from internal injuries received in an auto crash which occurred while he was returning to his home after visiting a friend in a hospital near Ripon. Mr. and Mrs. Billheimer left immediately for the northern city upon receipt of the news and returned during the weekend.

EDWARD GRAYS RETURN TO MAKE HOME HERE

Since their return from Iowa Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gray and their daughter, Miss Viola, have been renewing many acquaintances here. Now living at 252½ East Grand View avenue, they were in the East for several years.

SIERRA MADRE LOOKS GOOD AFTER 4 MONTHS AWAY

Mrs. Harry Brown was home again this week, at 119 West Grand View avenue, after an absence of four months during which she visited friends and relatives in Chicago, New York and Canada. A former Canadian, she enjoyed much of the three months spent in that country, but remarked, too, that she was glad to be home and among Sierra Madre friends again.

NEW JERSEY FOLKS HERE FOR THE WINTER

Miss Jeanette Shafer and Miss Ida Kirk of Summit, New Jersey, have rented the H. C. Lieben apartment on W. Montecito avenue and will take up their residence there December first.

Armistice Dance Of Legion Post Draws Over 150

November 13, 1:30 a. m. — Checked Woman's club after dance and everything quiet on the Western front.

And with that simple report by Officer Albert Bray on the police log, the annual Armistice Ball given by the American Legion was officially over, its gay festivity another chapter added to the history of the local post.

More than 150 persons attended the affair, and the general report was that it was "one swell dance." The dancers enjoyed the music supplied by Hall Halloway and his orchestra, card players had a room to themselves in which they competed for a number of desirable prizes and several other lucky persons carried home prizes too. Eddie Ranahan, Candy Smith and Al Miller won merchandise orders of five, three and two dollars respectively. Mrs. Lee Hibbs won a pair of blankets donated by Candy Smith.

INSERT

On behalf of the Legion, former Commander Russell Lovejoy expressed appreciation to the numous merchants who gave support to the dance.

At The Grammar School

Thrills and hardships of an average day in the life of the early Pilgrims are shown in the play which seventh graders will present next Wednesday in the school auditorium for schoolmates, parents and friends.

The play was written and directed by Mrs. Gladys Sanders, drama teacher. Miss Mary Pfahler, music instructor, has charge of music arrangements.

Rehearsals have been held during the past three weeks, and the production, open to the public, is the second feature of the seventh grade class's study of Colonial life. First project in the study unit was the Colonial exhibit held last week, attracting numerous visitors and winning compliments from mothers and fathers during the P. T. A. meeting.

Special treats for pupils this week was the program of four moving pictures presented by George R. Dodge and Walter L. Morgan, representatives of a sound picture projector company.

Pictures shown were "In Holland," "Alice in Wonderland," "Sky Thrills of Norway" and "Way of the Wild.' The first two were comedies, and the others, travelogues of Norway and Africa.

Tops and marbles vied for top popularity as after-school pastimes this week, and Marion Carleton was first to start the jacks playing season.

Pupils were happy last week, when Armistice Day provided a holiday on Friday, giving them a long weekend. This week pupils were already looking forward to the Thanksgiving holiday next week.

Notes From St. Rita's School

Graduates of 1937 and 1938 met Monday and formed St. Rita's Alumni association, electing Rita Burns president. Other officers were elected as follows: William Rhodes, vice-president; Lucille Hoevel, corresponding secretary, and Ralph Hippert, financial secretary. Next meeting will be held Monday night, 7:15 p. m.

Feast of the Presentation of Our Blessed Lady, Monday will be observed with a High Mass at 8:15 a. m. celebrated by Reverend Father Alan. The school choir will sing the Mass, and a sextette will sing as an Offeratory piece, "O Gloriosa Virginum."

Presence of all pupils will be expected at the Mass, but because this is the titular feast of the Sisters of the Presentation, it will be honored by a holiday from school classes.

War Veterans Join Celebrations In Nearby Cities

Although Sierra Madre had no parade of her own to mark the day, this city was well represented in Armistice Day parades Friday in Pasadena and in Monterey Park.

Members of the American Legion Post here joined Monterey Park Legionnaires in the celebration in that city. In the group from this city were Samuel Graham, Will Clement, William Cronin, Norman Jensen, Byron Burke, Lloyd Welch and Jim Irvine, of the Legion, and Miss Grace Jensen, who represented the Junior Auxiliary.

Taking part in the Pasadena celebration were a group from the Veterans of Foreign Wars post here including William Schwartz, Col. H. B. Hersey, Capt. E. G. Everett, Harry Holland, Orin Shearer, John Ort, Arthur Embree and Edward McElwaine.

STUDENTS STUDY SOME OF DESERT'S WONDERS

Jack Jensen, son of Richard Jensen, 561 Grand View, was among 31 University of Redlands students who learned stmething about rock and mineral formations first hand when they made a geology field trip into desert and fossil areas of Southern California last week.

The group left early Saturday morning, visited the Calico hills, Odessa canyon and Borate, where borax was first mined in the 1880's.

Ancient Automobile Brings Trio Cross Country In 41 Days

One way to see the country is by crossing it in an 1898 automobile, but taking a taxi would be cheaper, Elmer Hoff, 27, reported upon his arrival at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Reginald Humphrey of 624 Holly Trail.

Hoff and two companions, Bart Walsh, 23, and Ed Sweek, 23, all of Milwaukee, made the 3800-mile trip from New York in the ancient auto purchased for $5, and repaired en route at a cost of $78.

"We were on the road 41 days, have been making 10 to 20 miles per hour and have a busted crankshaft. Right now the seven-horse power engine can't do better than three horse power," Hoff declared.

CHARLES J. HARRIMAN

Charles Jewett Harriman, former Sierra Madre real estate dealer, 75 years old when he died Nov. 9 on the Yucaipa ranch where he spent his last seven years, was buried Armistice Day in Sierra Madre cemetery.

Born in Windsor, Maine, April 6, 1863, Mr. Harriman lived and conducted his real estate business in this city for ten years before he retired to the ranch at Yucaipa. Funera' services were held in Redlands on Friday.

Surviving relatives are the widow, Mrs. Louella Harriman of 43 Windsor Lane; two daughters, Miss Theo Harriman of Fresno, and Mrs. T. W. Simons of Clinton, Maine, and a son, Vincent Harriman of Brockton, Mass. Also living are four step-children, Miss Ethel Hall, Mrs. Eva LaLone, Mrs. Glenna Evans and Mrs. Dorothy Murphy, all of this city, and Wilbur Hall of Willows, the daughters and son of Mrs. Louella Harriman.

NEW GLAMOUR GIRL AT WASHINGTON THEATRE

"Carefree," light drama concerning a vacation resort with Gnnger Rogers and Fred Astaire, and "Algiers," starring the newest "glamour girl," Hedi Lamarr, provide a balanced program for the Washington theatre in Pasadena tonight and through Monday.

Hedi Lamarr is the young woman who created a sensation and a furor among censors in the foreign film, "Ectasy." "Algiers" is the first film made by her since her arrival here from Vienna.

"Of Human Hearts" and "The Higgins Family" will take the screen at the Washington as twin features for Tuesday and Wednesday. Starting next Thursday will be "Spawn of the North" and "Rich Man, Poor Girl."

Chief Home Economist At U.C. Has Ideas About Cooking The Thanksgiving Bird

Hints for housewives who are wondering how best to cook their Thanksgiving turkeys were offered today by Louise C. Struve, head of the division of Home Economics on the Davis campus of the University of California.

According to Miss Struve, many turkeys are ruined by housewives who lack knowledge of the best methods of cooking them. Even the poorer grades may be delicious if well-cooked, she says, but it is wise to select the better grades which have been dressed scientifically, packed and frozen hard. Birds which are drawn immediately after killing seem to be superior in flavor to those not drawn.

Furthermore, water should not be allowed to touch the inside of the bird. Thus, all cleaning of the outside of the skin should be done before the bird is drawn.

Dressing adds much to the flavor of the bird. Miss Struve points out that a thin layer of dressing between the breast meat and the outside skin gives the white meat a more delicate flavor and surprising juiciness. If the bird is stuffed and prepared for cooking a day or more in advance, more of the flavor of the dressing permeates the meat. Also, if the turkey is three-fourths roasted on the day before it is to be served and the final fourth of the cooking completed just before the Thanksgiving dinner, the texture and flavor of the meat is greatly improved and carving made much easier.

The easiest and most satisfactory method of cooking, says Miss Struve, is as follows: grease the turkey, place in an open pan breast up, and roast at 300 degrees, basting every half hour with melted fat.

San Bernardino In The Midst Of Its Greatest Fiesta

San Bernardino turned back the pages of history yesterday for its Covered Wagon Days celebration, expected to prove one of the outstanding historical fiestas ever held in Southern California.

Old time stage coaches and other horse drawn vehicles, as well as pioneer costumes, took possession of the city yesterday, while silver dollars continued to replace the folding money with increasing rapidity. Unique strollers and musical units covered the downtown district and the Whiskerino Patrol again swung into action.

The celebration opened with a breakfast yesterday morning, followed by a converging of the Covered Wagons and pioneer horse drawn vehicles at Perris Hill Park where a typical Covered Wagon stockade was established with the participants actually living in the wagons for the four days, in the manner of the early pioneers.

Last night there was a Covered Wagon Jubilee, featuring stars of the stage and screen.

Tonight there will be a Historical Pageant at Perris Hill Park, following a "Little Pig Derby" and a colorful parade on the downtown streets starting at 9:30 a. m.

There will be a professional rodeo at 2:00 p. m. Saturday and again Sunday, at Perris Hill Ball Park and a pioneer costume ball at Muncipal Auditorium Saturday evening, and a covered wagon jubilee at Municipal Auditorium Sunday evening.

VALLEY DENTISTS HONOR DOC. WOEHLER

At a large dental conclave held at Alhambra Tuesday evening, Dr. John L. Woehler of this city, member of the board of directors of the second district Dental Society, was unanimously elected Nominator of his association to the Southern California Dental Association. He will officially represent the San Gabriel Valley dentists in the Southern California state meetings where matters of dental policy are formulated.

HUNTINGTON LIBRARY IS REOPENED

Books printed in Mexico 400 years ago, first volumes published in the New World, and a collection of letters, diaries and account books of Los Angeles county, vintage 1850 to 1870, were among exhibits at the Henry E. Huntington library and art gallary when it was reopened for the eleventh season. The building will be open every afternoon but Monday, it was announced, and reservations may be made by mail or phone.

MORE HUNTERS THAN DUCKS AT SALTON SEA

Police Chief Gordon G. Mcmillan said it was because there were few ducks and lots of hunters; Judge Thomas W. Neale said it was because the ducks saw McMillan coming and left hurriedly for parts unknown. But it is a fact that the two men returned from a duck hunting trip to the Salton Sea last Saturday with one lone lorn duck, shot down by McMillan.

Less Damage From Fires In Nearby Hills This Year

Joe Swanson and Bob Babbitt, Sierra Madre firemen, attended the first fall meeting of Angeles Forest Protective Association Tuesday night and with 53 other foresters and firemen from San Gabriel valley towns enjoyed a turkey dinner at Brookside golf club, Pasadena. Edwin F. Walker, Southwest museum associate director, presented a talk on California Indians, tracing their history and Asiatic origin back many thousand years.

The forest service reported 54 fires to date this year, 14 caused by lightning, have burned a total of 34 acres. Report of the county forestry department showed 29 fires within its boundaries burned 40 acres and caused $14,500 damage.

"IT'S BAD FOR Your Health"

● How often, against the counsel of others and our own sound judgment, we do something to impair a naturally healthy constitution.

Especially are we prone to neglect or thoughtlessly dismiss small ills. These conditions, unattended, sometimes become chronic and lead to serious complications.

Don't neglect your health! It's the greatest asset you have. At the first indication of "something wrong" go to see your Physician. A timely visit now may prevent a long, expensive illness later. And bring his prescription here for prompt, precise compounding.

'Dad's Night' Lures Crowd To School

Parents See Result Of Study Of American Life In Colonial Days

"Dad's Night," held by the P.T.A. at the gramar school November 10, proved highly successful in attracting fathers as well as mothers to the meeting, and also in entertaining and informing the more than 200 who attended.

Fathers and mothers were much interested in the Colonial exhibit prepared by seventh grade pupils and revealing results of their study of life among early American colonists. Besides table models of various projects, the children presented demonstrations of spinning, carding wool and other colonial activities.

An art exhibit, dealing with the subject by means of posters, drawings and figurettes, was displayed by the pupils, who arranged the project under direction of Samuel McElfresn, seventh grade teacher.

Mrs. Lillian Mohr Fox of Pasadena schools music department presented a moving picture on creative music, and the meeting adjourned to partake of refreshments served by 4A and 5B grade mothers.

Second evening meeting of fathers and mothers for pre-school age children study under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Jackson, of Pasadena schools, will be held at 7:15 p.m. Monday night. in room 6 at the Grammar School, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Edward A. Davey, president of the PTA, which sponsors the program here, explained in making the announcement that the evening meetings are open not only to those whose children attend play group sessions, but to all parents interested in the study of child training and psychology.

LATEST NEWCOMERS ARE WELCOMED

Newly arrived residents welcomed here this week included Leslie R. Proud, 590 West Sierra Madre Blvd.; L. C. Larcen, 377 North Lima; L. H. Perry, 129 Esperanza; L. A. Barr, 309 Sturtevant; Mrs. D. F. Brammer, 7 Bella Vista Terrace; Edwin J. Perrin, 219 Canon Drive; M. J. Wood, 48½ Esperanza; Elmer Jackson, 251 West Highland; H. Barrett, 619½ Woodland, and S. A. Ballou, 181 Vista Circle Drive.

Graeme Smith Given Pastorate Of Los Angeles Church

Graeme Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith of 609 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. has been appointed pastor of the Berean Congregational Church in Los Angeles and will arrive soon from Deerfield, New Jersey, with his family to take up his duties which will begin the second Sunday in December.

VETERANS PROTEST MISUSE OF CAPS

Action by Los Angeles city council to prevent misleading the public by wearing War Veteran type caps, will be sought by Veterans of Foreign Wars in this area. The decision was reached at a district meeting in Glendale Tuesday night, attended by a delegation from this city that included William Schwartz, Norman Jensen, Harry Holland, Arthur Embree and John Ort.

A. L. A. Activities

PRESIDENT Helene Smith, Florence Jensen, and Helen Lovejoy attended the school of instructions in Patriotic hall, Los Angeles, Monday, when state and national officers outlined programs. Mrs. Smith was hostess at a luncheon for her chairmen and after the meeting the group visited Hollenbeck park.

Neighbors, could you have seen the dining room at San Fernando hospital on Armistice Day, your hearts would have been gladdened. The plain white tables—21 of them—were bedecked in red, white and blue. White and blue centerpieces were glorified with huge bouquets of red roses. Doctors and patients alike said it seemed like a banquet. We were so glad it was our unit bringing this joy. Our thanks to Russell Lovejoy Jr., who made himself very useful.

Sylvia Quittner's name has been added to the child welfare committee of the unit, President Helene Smith announced.

GIVE THANKS
To our many old and new friends we wish to express our gratitude for pleasant associations during the past year.

NOTARY INSURANCE
62 West Sierra Madre Blvd.

SIERRA Madre clubwomen are presenting the program at next Wednesday's meeting of the club which gives promise of being one of the most interesting events of the current club season.

Mrs. Adria Johnson is in charge of activities and announces that the program will open with a short memorial service for May Stanley Mason, beloved writer and enthusiastic club worker who passed away during the summer. It will be conducted by Mrs. M. A. Copps. Mrs. W. S. Hull will review "On Borrowed Time;" Mrs. E. E. Bacon will review "The Importance of Living," and Mrs. C. A. Allen will read a group of short stories to be followed by a review of "The Horse and Buggy Doctor" by Mrs. Adria Johnson.

After luncheon Mrs. R. C. Lewis will read a group of travel letters from her daughter, who is touring Europe, and Mrs. I. F. Petterson will read some of her original poems.

The Garden Section of the club held a meeting Wednesday noons under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Lawless who, following a short talk on street plantings, conducted a tour of boulevards near Monrovia where there have been recent group plantings of native Sycamore trees. The group also visited the garden of Mrs. C. A. Dillingham in Arcadia and returned to the Wistaria Vine Gardens for a lecture on the culture of Cascade Chrysanthemums followed by luncheon at the Gardens.

Those in the party were Mrs. Al Meyers, Mrs. Adria Johnson, Mrs. Nell Vieira, Mrs. C. H. Sandage, Miss Clara Sykes, Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, Miss Elizabetn Harvey and Mrs. Lawless. Mrs. Woodson Jones joined the group for luncheon.

Mrs. Myers announces that classes which were postponed last week at the clubhouse will be resumed this week and requests all women who are interested in the study of French to take advantage of the excellent instruction being given by Marcell La Mour Friday afternoons.

Man Enjoys His First Birthday Party As He Reaches Eighty-First Year

A pleasant surprise to Fred Holmers was the celebration given in honor of his eightieth birthday November 6 by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spillar, for he revealed it was the first birthday party of his life.

Mr. and Mrs. Spillar held open house at their home, 196 West Montecito avenue, receiving Mr. Holmer's many friends in rooms profusely decorated with orange, yellow and white flowers. The same color scheme was employed for the coffee and tea tables, where the following poured: Mrs. S. O. Connor, Mrs. H. A. Pipkin, Mrs. Gordon Brooks, Mrs. Jack Mitchell, Mrs. C. H. Tuggle, Mrs. J. D. McAndrews, Mrs. Frank Larson, Mrs. J. S. Fergus and Miss Emily Roos.

Mrs. Fannie R. Sea assisted Mrs. Spillar in receiving the 65 guests who attended the affair between 3 and 5 p. m., extended congratulations to Mr. Holmers and sampled the huge birthday cake on which glowed a tiny candle for each of his eighty years.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Holmers of Long Beach were present, and also Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Steinberger of Glendale. Guitar music was furnished by Bob Jensen and Lloyd Larson.

Motorists Find Icy Roads In Hills Above The City

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schwartz, son Tommy and Paul Carter enjoyed a motor trip to Chileo Sunday, but found that some of the icy highways they encountered back in the mountains back of the city made driving rather difficult.

GREAT PRO GRIDDERS MEET SUNDAY

Headed by a coach who is known as the "miracle man" in the pro football ranks, the Cleveland Rams will invade Los Angeles to battle the Los Angeles Bulldogs at Gilmore stadium Sunday afternoon.

Art Lewis, who played football at Ohio State during his college days and later joined the New York Giants, is the coach who has the other professionals talking. After playing a season with the Giants, Lewis coached Ohio Wesleyan. When he joined the Cleveland Rams this year, Hugo Bezdek was the head coach but Lewis, because of his marvelous ability in handling men, was given the top job. He will open Sunday's game at right guard against the Bulldogs and the six foot, three inch, 223 pounder is a mighty good man to open up holes for his backfield men.

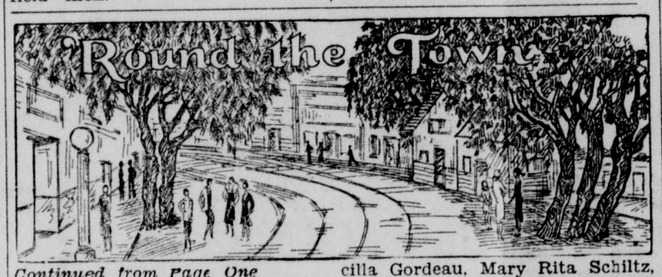

PICNIC ENJOYED BY CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The group of Camp Fire Girls under the direction of Miss Ruth Miles enjoyed their first picnic and game time last Thursday at Arcadia Park and Santa Anita Canyon and are awaiting the big council fire this week when they will receive honor beads awaiting them. Members of the group are, Betty Jo. Fix, Lois Fontaine, Jeanette Carleton, Helen Askew, Dona Thayer, Yoshiko Umekubo, Nadine Noble, Dorothy Smith, Alice Burnham, and Nancy Bumpus.

TRAVELERS SEE A LOT OF THIS AMERICA

Miss Anna Sherman Morton of 50 Morton avenue, was welcomed home last week when she returned from a two months motor trip with Mr. and Mrs. Jose Drudis of Redondo. The group visited San Francisco and Lake Tahoe; Glacier, Yellowstone and Teton national parks, spent some time in the Black Hills of South Dakota, observing with much interest the presidential memorials carved in stone there; spent a week in Nw York and three weeks in Cincinnati.

Miss Vivian Weber, who lives at 177 Adams street here and is a pupil at Wilson high school in Pasadena, enjoyed having as her guests here last weekend Miss Lucile Parr of Hollywood.

turned from Mammoth Lakes where she spent the summer and is again assisting at the Wistaria Vine Gardens.

Mr. Vard Wallace and son Malcolm who have been touring the European continent for several months arrived last Saturday in New York City and are expected home this week. They plan to purchase a car in Detroit and make the cross country trip by motor.

Mrs. Hortense Hill is again visiting her son Victor Hill who has recovered sufficiently from his recent serious illness to leave the San Bernardino Hospital, and is now recuperating at his home.

Miss Grace Caukin has returned from a weeks vacation which was spent with friends in Los Angeles and vicinity and with her daughter Mrs. Pierson B. Miller in Los Angeles. Tuesday morning Mrs. Miller appeared as principal player in two one-act plays at the Wilshire Woman's Club.

Captain and Mrs. E. G. Everett enjoyed having as their guests last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Knopp and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Titus, of Compton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Guenther of Ontario were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Smart of 98 S. Lima street.

Among young Sierra Madreans attending the dance given at Immaculate Conception High School in Monrovia Friday were Priscilla Gordeau, Mary Rita Schiltz, Rita Burns, Betty Thill and Bill Rhodes, who were accompanied by Mrs. Peter Thill.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tyree and sons Ross and George will motor to Douglas, Arizona, next week to spend Thanksgiving with their daughter Dorothy and her husband Tom Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Trimble and family who have been vacationing at Balboa for several weeks, were guests of Mrs. C. E. Trimble last Tuesday before leaving for their home in Salt Lake City. Friday guests of Mrs. Trimble were Mrs. Gertrude Harris and Mrs. Lowell Trimble of Pasadena.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Weyland of 153 S. Hermosa avenue who have been spending several days at their desert cottage at La Quinta near Palm Springs, had as weekend guests Mrs.R. J. MacDonald of Edmonton, Canada and Miss Jeanette Shafer of New Jersey, who are here for the winter, and Miss Marian Vannier.

Miss Ruth Bowen of Los Angeles and Mrs. Harriet Hammel of Santa Monica were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Weese of 358 N. Canyon Drive.

Arthur Evans, past commander of the local post, and Mrs. Evans, came from their home in Lancaster to attend the Legion dance Saturday night. The Goodier's, former residents, came up from their new home in Temple City.

Captain Ed. Jones Leases Property Of Mrs. Merriam

Welcomed as new residents here this week were Captain and Mrs. Ed Jones, of San Pedro, who are now living in the home at 415 Sturtevant drive, leased from Mrs. Frank Merriam, wife of the Governor.

Capt. Jones, proprietor of the Jones Pacific Printery in San Pedro, and his wife have spent much of their time here in previous years.

Postoffice Jobs To Be Filled From New List Of Eligibles

Appointments to vacant positions in the local post office will be made from the register of eligibles resulting from the civil service examination held here in September, according to an announcement by Arthur H. Embree, secretary of the local civil service board.

The register contains the names of 33 men and six women. Men and women are on seperate lists. When an appointment is to be made, the postmaster will recommend to the first assistant postmaster general one of the persons who are the three highest available on the list. However, a veteran cannot be passed over without an adequate explanation. The first assistant will make the appointment if the recommendation meets the civil service requirements.

Appointment to a regular substitute position is probational for six months, computed in number of hours worked, not by the calendar. The probationary period provides an opportunity for the postmaster to judge the appointee's fitness for postoffice employment, on points that the civil service examination cannot cover. The postmaster's recommendation made at or before the expiration of the probationary period, is passed upon by the first assistant postmaster general.

Release of the probationer without charge of misconduct does not prevent his taking another civil service examination. An appointee who is employed beyond the probationary period becomes a permannt employee of the Post Office Department, and cannot be removed except for very serious misconduct.

Wood Block Prints At Housewarming Of The Bookshop

Wood block color prints made by the late Jane Berry Judson of Castile, New York, internationally recognized for her work in this medium, attracted much attention yesterday from those who attended the "at home" affair held by Miss Jessie Dunning in her Foothill bookshop on North Baldwin avenue.

The print exhibit was opened as a feature of the housewarming celebration in honor of the completion of the bookshop and was presented by Miss Louise Judson, executive secretary of the Red Cross here and a sister of the artist.

The prints, appearing in large exhibits throughout the United States and especially well known on the Eastern coast and in New York, were made in accordance with the Japanese method, differing fundamentally from linoleum block print technique.

Jane Berry Judson combined what is in Japan the work of three craftsmen, designer, cutter and printer, doing the entire process of production herself. The artist studied with Professor Allen W. Seaby of Reading university, England.

Less Damage From Fires In Nearby Hills This Year

Joe Swanson and Bob Babbitt, Sierra Madre firemen, attended the first fall meeting of Angeles Forest Protective Association Tuesday night and with 53 other foresters and firemen from San Gabriel valley towns enjoyed a turkey dinner at Brookside golf club, Pasadena. Edwin F. Walker, Southwest museum associate director, presented a talk on California Indians, tracing their history and Asiatic origin back many thousand years.

The forest service reported 54 fires to date this year, 14 caused by lightning, have burned a total of 34 acres. Report of the county forestry department showed 29 fires within its boundaries burned 40 acres and caused $14,500 damage.

"IT'S BAD FOR Your Health"

● How often, against the counsel of others and our own sound judgment, we do something to impair a naturally healthy constitution.

Especially are we prone to neglect or thoughtlessly dismiss small ills. These conditions, unattended, sometimes become chronic and lead to serious complications.

Don't neglect your health! It's the greatest asset you have. At the first indication of "something wrong" go to see your Physician. A timely visit now may prevent a long, expensive illness later. And bring his prescription here for prompt, precise compounding.
